Occupation Classification

Overview

The underwriting process starts with a clear understanding of the business in which the proposed insured is engaged and the duties of the occupation.

Duties is the key word. The applicants must clearly state what they do for a living – the duties of the job are relevant, not just the title. Please avoid general terms such a salesperson, executive or president, without further description. A complete description of duties is required.

If an individual has multiple or part-time occupations, the occupation classification will be determined by the occupation with the greatest risk.

Classifying Occupations

A particular job and job duties are generally classified in accordance with the hazards of the work and the difficulty involved in returning to work.

Other factors may also strongly affect the claim experience, such as the social or economic environment. For example, the disability income claim experience for chiropractors, dentists and employees of restaurants and hotels is higher than the actual hazard would seem to warrant.

Selected occupations may have certain other qualifications or requirements resulting in a more or less favorable classification. These requirements will be listed either with the occupation or in the Special Occupation section beginning on the following pages.

Change in Occupation

Reduction of premiums for a change in occupation will be considered after a permanent change, other than due to retirement, to a lower premium rate occupation. The insured must have performed in the less hazardous occupation continuously for at least one year and have no intention of returning to the primary duties of the previous occupation.

When underwriting a request for reduction of occupational premium, in addition to evaluating the change in occupation, The Standard will consider build, medical history and impairments, habits and all other underwriting factors. An insured who has changed to a lower premium rate occupation, but who has become a higher risk for some other reason, will not qualify for improvement in the occupation class.

Any premium refund will depend on the circumstances of the particular case. In no event will premium be refunded for more than one year prior to the date notice of change was received at the home office. Therefore, it is important that prompt notice of an occupation change be given to The Standard.

Occupation Classification

Using the Occupation Classification List

Some occupation classifications may be found by the name or type of specific job or occupation, such as "accountant," "barber," "nurse." For others it may be necessary to refer to a general industry or activity, such as "agriculture," "bank," "computer," "construction," "medical services," etc.

Since no list can be all-inclusive, if an occupation is not listed or there is any doubt as to the probable classification, contact your home office underwriter.

The occupation class assigned will be based upon the actual duties, not based on the job title. The list is a guide only and the actual underwriting classification assigned to a policy may be more or less favorable, subject to the home office underwriter's evaluation.

For some occupation classifications the occupation list will show that two or more years' income documentation may be required.

Full-time Employment Required

The proposed insured must work 30 hours or more per week at the primary occupation.

Part-time or Multiple Occupations

Any part-time occupation(s) must be shown and described. Part-time income is generally not included to determine the benefit amount that may be issued. The occupational classification assigned will be for the most hazardous or higher premium occupation.

Special Occupations

The Special Occupations section details additional requirements and the occupation classification that may apply to certain occupations.

Working in Home/Residence

(Self-employed): For some occupations, the occupation class list shows specific limitations or disqualifies those from being eligible for disability insurance if they work in their home or residence.

Because a stable and predictable work environment and earnings are essential to underwriting the disability risk, a proposed insured with an office in his or her home/residence will be given individual consideration, subject to the following information and requirements:

Minimum Requirements:

- Frequent contact with clients, customers or patients is necessary.
- Success of the business depends upon that contact.
- Profit and loss statements, alone, will not satisfy the income documentation requirements.

If the proposed insured meets these minimum requirements, refer to the table in the following section. Contact your home office underwriter if you have questions.

Regardless of the above guidelines, the underwriter's individual consideration given to such cases may result in either no offer, a reduced benefit amount, a reduced benefit period and/or elimination of some riders or other benefits.

State Disability Insurance

For applicants covered only by state disability insurance (SDI) with no other legislated benefits, please use the following guidelines:

- California SSI, if any, must have a 365-day waiting period.
- Hawaii and Rhode Island SSI, if any, must have a 180-day waiting period.

Special Occupations

Selected Students and New Professionals

Special limits are available for certain professionals in their first two years of practice in their profession or for listed student professionals exhibiting continuous educational progress.

These limits are not available to those with interrupted periods of schooling or training, or if more than six months has elapsed between leaving school/training and starting practice. Amounts greater than the listed limit must be justified by earned income.

These limits are available on an "all base" coverage approach. As an alternative for The Protector+SM, the Supplemental Social Insurance Benefit rider (SSI) may also be offered. For example, a veterinarian starting in private practice can purchase either $1,250 base benefit per month plus $750 SSI, providing a total benefit of $2,000 per month, or $2,000 base benefit per month ("all base" coverage) and no SSI.

The listed amounts are subject to underwriting approval and will be reduced by any other in force disability income coverage.

If the applicant has accepted a job offer or employment contract which goes into effect within the next three months, the amount of disability income offered will be based upon the earned income and any group or other disability income coverage that the applicant will become eligible for as a result of that employment.

To assist in processing applications, indicate applicable details on the application, such as the program of study, school year, year of residency, medical specialty training for, and the length of time practicing in their profession.

We do not offer disability insurance to any other students, studying for a profession or otherwise.

Temporary Changes

Based on observed stabilization in the financial services industry, The Standard has reviewed certain occupations and adjusted its underwriting criteria, returning to previously established normal maximum I&P limits. Other occupations will remain eligible for reduced I&P limits, as described in the chart below.

For best consideration, include detailed cover letters explaining applicants' employment history, prior earnings and future income potential. The Standard has always encouraged you to submit as much context as possible when submitting an IDI application. The more information you supply, the better your chances of a quick response from underwriting with the best possible IDI offer.

Eligible For Normal I & P Limits Published In this Product Guide	Eligible For Reduced I & P Limits Max $10,000/mo
Bond and stock traders (not on the exchange floor)	Real Estate attorneys
Investment analysts	Mortgage Brokers
Investment bankers	Mortgage Originators
Hedge Fund Managers (large firms only)	Real Estate Agents and Brokers
Private Equity Firms	Residential Construction

The Following Occupations Are Not Eligible For IDI Coverage:

- Commodity Brokers (on the exchange floor)
- Real Estate Developers

Commodity brokers (not on the floor) and Venture Capitalists will be considered for regular limits on a case-by case basis, taking into consideration key factors such as the pattern and stability of earned income.

Each of the occupations listed in the chart above will be held to the following temporary restrictions:

- Three consecutive years in industry and the last two years' tax returns are required
- The Business Owner Upgrade, Business Owner Discount and Earned Income Enhancer are not available
- Income documentation and current year-to-date income statements are required

 Income averaging is not appropriate for significant fluctuations—more than 20 percent per year—in earned income, or if the year-to-date documentation produces the lowest income

Guarantee Issue Individual Disability Insurance

In concert with the IDI changes referred to above, The Standard has adjusted underwriting criteria for Guarantee Issue (GI) offers.

Eligible For Normal I & P Limits Published In this Product Guide	Eligible For Reduced I & P Limits $15,000/mo For GI IDI With LTD
Bond and stock traders (not on the exchange floor)	Real Estate attorneys
Investment analysts	Mortgage Brokers
Investment bankers	Mortgage Originators
Hedge Fund/Derivative Managers	Real Estate Agents and Brokers
Private Equity Firms	Residential Construction
Commodity Brokers/Traders (not on the exchange floor)

The Following Occupations Are Not Eligible For GI IDI Coverage:

- Commodity Brokers (on the exchange floor)
- Real Estate Developers

Many factors are considered in establishing whether The Standard will make an offer on a Guarantee Issue case. These include occupation, industry, geographical location and income patterns. The emphasis will be on current rather than historical income. We will continue to research employers for stability. Sources include but are not limited to Internet research, financial publications and commercial research firms. Income averaging may not be appropriate for significant fluctuations (more than 20 percent changes in earned income per year).

Occupation Classifications Overview

The underwriting process starts with a clear understanding of the business in which the proposed insured is engaged and the duties of the occupation. Duties is the key word. The applicants must clearly specify what they do for a living — the duties of the job are relevant, not just the title. Class 5A

This class includes a number of professionals and select white-collar occupations. Preferential rates are available. Typical occupations are architects and attorneys.

Class 4P

This class is for medical professionals who do not perform any type of surgery or interventional procedures with some exceptions. Examples include general practitioners, internists and family practice physicians. Most dental specialties are also included in this occupation class.

Class 4A

This class also includes a number of professionals and select white-collar occupations. Favored premium rates are available. Typical occupations include large animal veterinarians and school principals.

Class 3P Surgeon

This sub-class is for surgeons, including, thoracic surgeons, plastic surgeons, and neurosurgeons if performing surgery.

Class 3P

This class is for emergency room physicians and physicians who perform interventional procedures, with some exceptions. These physician specialties include obstetricians and non-specialty dentists.

Class 3A

This class includes most professionals and those technical and managerial occupations that do not qualify for class 4A. In most cases these people are office-only workers whose particular occupations exhibit a high degree of stability and responsibility.

Class 2P

This class is for medical professionals with highrisk practices, and for other health care providers with strenuous manual duties. Examples are anesthesiologists, and registered nurses. Occupation Class 2P is only available with Protector Platinum. Occupations in this class are classified as 2A, 3A or 3P for other products.

Class 2A

This class includes supervisors of various occupations who do not perform manual labor. Certain skilled clerical and technical workers are also included, along with some other categories of occupations. Examples are court reporters, surveyors and many clerical employees.

Class A

This class includes manual workers who have no unusual occupational hazard such as hair stylists and electricians.

Class B

This class covers the most hazardous work that The Standard will insure for disability income insurance purposes. Examples are carpenters, mechanics, and chiropractors.

Special Occupations

Students And New Professionals^{1,2}

Unless otherwise noted, "new in practice limits" refers to those starting or in their first two years of professional practice. For those starting up their own business and/or opening a private practice, and who are not eligible for group LTD, income documentation is not required to obtain the limits specified below. For all others, these limits will be offset by any other individual, group or association coverage in force or applied for. Please refer to Government Employees on the next page for government employee guidelines. Group LTD coverage is not considered when determining the amount of available coverage for physicians and dentists applying under the new-in-practice limits during their first two years in professional practice.

¹ The Standard allows special underwriting rules for these insureds, which allow them to purchase an FPO amount of up to $10,000. These special rules also allow a one-time only, off-anniversary FPO election for this group of policyholders, subject to The Standard's usual financial underwriting. The time period to more quickly exercise up to the full amount of all remaining FPO is limited to 36 months following graduation (attaining professional degree), or completion of residency or fellowship, whichever comes later. After that time, any remaining amount of FPO then becomes subject to the regular schedule for FPO exercises provided in the FPO Rider.

Government Employees

Government employees generally participate in the Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS), Public Employees Retirement System (PERS) or other similar government-sponsored programs. These retirement programs include a disability benefit that is separate from any group long term disability (LTD) plan that may be available.

The Standard's IDI benefit amounts for all insurable government employees are determined by treating FERS, PERS and similar retirement disability benefits the same as a group LTD plan.

If LTD is available in addition to FERS, PERS or other similar benefits, please contact your underwriter at The Standard.

Federal Government Employees

Assume FERS disability coverage of 40% of salary to a maximum of $10,000.

State, Local and Municipal Employees

These employees' plans vary on the types of benefits offered. Please provide a copy of your benefits booklet. In lieu of a benefits booklet, underwriting will assume disability coverage of 60% to a maximum of $10,000, or provide a copy of the benefits booklet.

The following guidelines should be used for all Federal, State, City and County employees

Entertainment Industry

The underwriting of individuals working in the entertainment industry presents a variety of challenges for disability insurers. Stability of employment and earnings may be difficult to establish. Success in the entertainment field may be dependent upon factors that are beyond the control of the individual, such as changing public opinion, ratings and support of sponsors. Job skills required in the entertainment industry may not be readily transferable to another industry.

Occupations in this industry do not qualify for the Business Owner Upgrade.

Many applicants employed in the entertainment industry will be considered according to the guidelines on the following page.

Consideration is also subject to underwriting review of the two most recent years' tax returns if the applicant is an employee, or three most recent years' tax returns if the applicant is self-employed.

The maximum indemnity amounts shown below refer to maximum coverage in force or applied for with all companies.
