

Workplace respect during challenging times

During uncertain times when opinions differ, it can be a challenge to stay focused on work and maintain positive interactions with your colleagues, whether in-person or remotely. But no matter how difficult it may feel, these tips can help foster mutual respect for your coworkers.

- Stay positive by remembering that disagreements are often a result of varying backgrounds, experiences, and what we've learned and believe.
- Be a good role model. Treat others the way you would want to be treated.
- Try not to interrupt. Truly listen, and give the other person the attention you would like to have.
- Use "I" statements to express your views and avoid blaming the other person or "side."
- Limit strong conversations in the work-related interactions where heated debate can lead to unnecessary conflicts. Sometimes it's best to give a polite reply and leave the discussion.
- Breathe deep to "buy time" so you can act thoughtfully and not just react. Count to 10 to gather your thoughts before responding.
- Take the high road and be part of the solution instead of fueling a problem. Channel your strong convictions into volunteering, becoming more motivated and making a positive difference.

Remember, it can be impossible to rewind when you say something, do something, and/or email comments that can create discord.

We're here when you need us most

Health Advocate is committed to embracing diversity, equity and inclusion as we provide personalized support to improve your health and well-being. Connect with us today.

888.293.6948

answers@HealthAdvocate.com

HealthAdvocate.com/standard3

Registration code: AQ3QGHQ

Call • Email • Message • Live Chat

We're not an insurance company. Health Advocate is not a direct healthcare provider, and is not affiliated with any insurance company or third party provider. ©2025 Health Advocate HA-M-2401232-35FLY SI 22964 (3/25)

