Long Term Disability Benefit Amount

If your LTD claim is approved, and you continue to be disabled as defined by the group policy, benefits under the employer-paid plan and employee-paid plan are payable after you have served the longest of the following: a) 90 days; b) The entire period of sick leave (excluding shared leave) for which the employee is eligible; c) The Fractionated Period of Paid Time Off (PTO) for which the employee is eligible, if your Employer has a PTO Plan, as those terms are defined in the policy; d) The entire period of other non-vacation salaried continuation leave for which the employee is eligible; or e) The end of Washington Paid Family and Medical Leave for which the employee is receiving benefits.

LTD benefits under the employer-paid plan are paid monthly at 60 percent of the first $667 of your predisability earnings, up to a monthly maximum benefit of $400, reduced by deductible income, including but not limited to PERS, TRS, SERS, sick leave, salary continuation (including shared leave), Social Security, Labor & Industries benefit, and a portion of your earnings from work (if working while disabled).

If you are insured under the employee-paid plan, employee-paid LTD benefits are paid monthly at 60 percent or 50 percent of your predisability earnings (up to a monthly benefit maximum of $10,000 or $8,333), reduced by deductible income, including but not limited to PERS, TRS, SERS, sick leave, salary continuation (including shared leave), Social Security, Labor & Industries benefit, and a portion of your earnings from work (if working while disabled). This plan has a minimum benefit of $100 or 10 percent of the LTD benefit, whichever is greater.

It is your responsibility to notify The Standard if you receive income from other sources, including deductible income as specified in your group policy (or LTD Plan booket).

There may be an overpayment on your claim if The Standard is not promptly informed that you are receiving income from other sources (deductible income). Any overpayment must be repaid in full to The Standard.

Pre-existing Conditions

Your LTD coverage has a preexisting condition exclusion that may affect your entitlement to benefits if you have not been insured under the State of Washington group policy for at least 12 months. The exclusion may apply if:

1) you consulted a physician, received medical treatment or services, or took prescribed drugs or medications for a condition during the 90 days before the effective date of your LTD insurance; and

2) this condition (called a preexisting condition), or the medical or surgical treatment of this condition, caused or contributed to the condition for which you are filing a claim. Please consult your LTD Plan Booklet for additional information regarding this or other exclusions and limitations that may apply.

Payment of Benefits

If you qualify for LTD benefits, your monthly benefit checks will be mailed directly to the mailing address you provide to us. Your benefit check can also be directly deposited via electronic funds transfer into your bank account. If you are interested in this payment option, please contact the The Standard Benefits Analyst assigned to your claim. Benefits are paid monthly at the end of each monthly benefit period.

Tax Information

LTD benefits issued under the employer-paid plan are subject to Federal and State taxes because the premiums are paid by your employer.

LTD benefits issued under the employee-paid plan are subject to Federal and State taxes because the premiums are paid by both you and your employer.

9. Deductible Income/Benefits From Other Sources

Your Group Disability plan is designed so that the income you receive from Standard Insurance Company and other sources (e.g., Social Security, Workers' Compensation, retirement system, and other income or benefits as described in your Group Policy as deductible income or benefits) combined will provide you with a percentage of predisability earnings, as defined in your Group Policy. Please review your Group Policy to determine how receipt of or eligibility for deductible income or benefits may impact your disability benefits. Please review your obligation to keep Standard Insurance Company informed of your application for and receipt of deductible income or benefits. Additionally, your Group Policy may allow Standard Insurance Company to reduce your disability benefit by estimated deductible income or benefits you are eligible to receive even if you have not applied for them. If your Group Policy states that Social Security benefits will be "deemed payable" even if not received, we will deduct from your disability benefit an estimated Social Security benefit for you and your dependents, based on your Social Security wage record. Please also understand that when deductible income or benefits are awarded you may receive a retroactive award (earlier date) and payment. This retroactive payment may result in an overpayment of your disability benefits because you would receive deductible income or benefits for a period during which you already have received disability benefits from Standard Insurance Company.
