Base Contract + Residual = the Right Fit for Many Buyers

What’s in the base contract? Plenty!

- Regular Occupation Definition of Disability
- Unlimited Mental/Nervous for 5A, 4A and 3A, as well as 5P, 4P, 4S and 3D
- Guaranteed Renewable contract
- Family Care Benefit: a unique offering that is growing rapidly in popularity
- Along with:
  - Total Disability (no residual)
  - Rehabilitation Benefit
  - Survivor Benefit
  - Transplant Surgery Disability Benefit
  - Waiver of Premium Benefit
  - Presumptive Disability Benefit
  - Option to suspend for military service
- Two future benefit growth riders included at no cost:
  - Automatic Increase Benefit Rider
  - Benefit Increase Rider

Who’s a good fit for the base contract?

5A/4A Occupations:
- Corporate executives/managers
- Attorneys, other than trial attorneys or equity partners
- CPAs, architects, IT professionals, engineers, consultants, contractors, paralegals

5P/4P Occupations:
- Optometrists, Therapists (M/A or doctorate degree)
- Small-animal veterinarians
- Some non-invasive physicians

3A Occupations:
- Real estate professionals
- Ministers
- Property managers
- Social workers (MSW)
- Many others

Why add a residual rider to the base contract?

We recommend adding a residual rider to all quotes as a best practice. Residual gives policyowners the comfort of knowing they can return to work part-time without losing their disability coverage.

Which residual rider fits which client?

See the next two cards for information on selecting the best option.

---

1 In Florida, policyowners receive an own occ definition for the first 12 months.
2 In California, a 24-month limitation is placed on all policies.
3 Not available in California, Connecticut or New York.
4 Issued with all eligible policies for no additional premium.
5 In California, a residual rider is required.

A Better Basic Residual Disability Rider:

Our Basic Residual Rider is equivalent to most other carrier's best residual riders.

Why do most clients need a Residual Disability Rider?

The majority of clients will benefit when you add the appropriate residual rider to our very strong base contract. With any Residual Disability Rider, insured customers can feel confident about returning to work part-time and still qualify for a benefit. The next card offers in-depth detail on all three Residual Disability Riders.

Residual in California

In California, a Residual Disability Rider is added to all policies. Occupation classes 2A, 2P, A and B will receive the Short-Term Residual Disability Rider. All others will receive the Enhanced Residual Disability Rider. In California only, the Basic rider is not available and the Short-Term rider requires only an income loss to qualify for benefits.
Which Definition of Disability: Regular Occupation or Own Occupation Rider?

Regular Occupation (base contract)
- Appropriate for nearly all occupations
- Specialty language for physicians and dentists included
- Unable to perform duties of your regular occupation, and not engaged for wage or profit in another occupation

Own Occupation Rider
- Designed for highly specialized occupations, such as surgeons, trial attorneys and others who may become disabled in their specialty but continue to work in another occupation
- Specialty language expanded to include trial attorneys
- Unable to perform the duties of your regular occupation and allowed to work in another occupation while still receiving Total Disability Benefit

5-16% premium added to the base contract depending on occupation class and age

Other For-Cost Riders Available:
- Cost of Living Benefit, Catastrophic Disability Benefit
- Student Loan Rider
