Welcome to the latest edition of The Standard’s community engagement report.

Each year, we prepare this report based on the total giving from the prior year. It’s a chance to look back at what we accomplished together, to recognize the generosity of our employees and honor the good work of our community partners. As we were finalizing the engagement report earlier this year, the world changed almost overnight. The COVID-19 global pandemic created a huge strain on our communities and community partners, and we will all undoubtedly feel the effects for some time. And in the midst of the pandemic, an historic movement to address persistent racial inequities in the U.S. was borne following the tragic killings of several Black community members. While this report focuses on our work in the prior year, today our hearts are heavy and our commitment to racial justice will not yield.

At The Standard, we’ve been helping people achieve financial well-being and peace of mind since 1906. Never has that promise been more important than now as the global health crisis disrupts lives, communities and the economy. While the pandemic is tough on everyone, we recognize that the most vulnerable in our communities face a heightened risk. The crisis and the way we collectively respond will define a generation. The Standard, and the people who work here, as well as other local businesses and employees, neighbors and residents are all rising to the challenge.

As we celebrate the giving activities of 2019, I’d like to thank the employees at The Standard for their generosity. During the annual Employee Giving Campaign, employee donations to their favorite schools and nonprofits are double matched by the company. The 2019 EGC broke all records — raising $5.1 million for 1,900 organizations! While we couldn’t have predicted how our world has changed since those pledges were made, we know that as those quarterly payments are made in 2020, they come at a time when nonprofits and schools need flexible funding the most.

Employees got involved in many other ways too, including volunteering at their favorite nonprofits and schools in the many communities we call home: Portland (where our company was founded); Altavista, Virginia; Cincinnati, Ohio; White Plains, New York; and many other places. You’ll learn more about their donations of time, energy and compassion and meet the four employees who received the Leo Award last year for going above and beyond as volunteers.

The Leo Award commemorates our founder, Leo Samuel, who was known for his commitment to strengthening his beloved Portland and the surrounding region. Leo started our company in 1906 and his legacy of philanthropy still guides us today — giving back is part of our DNA. Last year through our corporate and foundation giving, we helped fund some amazing, high-impact projects to support and advance education, disability empowerment, access to housing and health care and much more. Keep reading for all the details.

We are sustained by the examples of those who make us the proudest right now — family, friends, neighbors and colleagues working together who are helping guide our nation through a truly unprecedented period in history. No matter how unsettled we may feel, remember we are not alone. There are so many people in this world trying their level best to help others. And I am certain we will get through this — together.

In times of crisis, we are defined by how we respond. Let’s continue to be defined by compassion.

Thanks for your interest,

Greg Ness

A Note About Our COVID-19 Response in 2020

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, The Standard Charitable Foundation contributed $250,000 to the Oregon Community Foundation’s Oregon Community Recovery Fund.

The Oregon Community Recovery Fund deployed resources to community-based organizations on the front lines of the coronavirus outbreak. The immediate focus of the funds was to fill the gaps in funding not met by the public or private sector during the crisis including:

- Addressing the increased need for child care during school and day care closures
- Supporting hard-hit small businesses
- Preventing isolation of seniors and others during social distancing
- Providing educational opportunities for kids during school closures

In addition, the foundation made $25,000 grants to:

- Greater Cincinnati Foundation
- Westchester Community Foundation
- United Way of Central Virginia

These organizations have designated funds to respond to the immediate and longer-term needs of their communities in this crisis.

Along with the charitable response from our foundation, The Standard announced many accommodations for its customers during the pandemic, ranging from extended insurance premium grace periods, waiving certain retirement plan administrative fees, keeping furloughed employees covered under benefit plans, easing of claim requirements, and modifying loans for commercial mortgage holders. During this challenging time for small business owners, we will continue to look for ways to alleviate these burdens so they can focus on their business and employees.
About Our Company

The Standard provides insurance and financial products and services that more than 6 million customers rely on to achieve financial well-being and peace of mind. In 1906, Leo Samuel founded the company that would become The Standard — Oregon Life Insurance Company — in Portland, Oregon. Leo believed a local company could provide better service to customers living and working in the Pacific Northwest while contributing directly to the region’s economy.

Though we have offices across the country today, The Standard’s headquarters are still in Portland, and Leo’s commitment to exceptional customer service and to strengthening communities still guides us. Our employees find ways to give back by donating time and money to their favorite schools and nonprofits. In the last 12 years alone, The Standard and our employees contributed more than $35 million and countless volunteer hours to community partners. We believe in making a difference — for our customers and for our neighbors.

Compassionate and Caring Employees

Since our company’s beginning 114 years ago we’ve grown a lot, with offices and customers across the country. But compassion — along with a focus on living our values, caring about people and doing what matters for our customers — connects employees from coast to coast.

In 2019, employee volunteers across the company found many opportunities to support organizations that help people navigate challenges in life:

Altavista, Virginia — Rise Against Hunger

Rise Against Hunger is an international hunger relief nonprofit that coordinates the packaging and distribution of food and other life-changing aid to people in developing nations. Employees in our Altavista office packaged nearly 9,000 meals toward this effort. The nutritionally balanced meals were shipped to Haiti.

Cincinnati, Ohio — 10 years of giving back

The Standard’s Cincinnati office celebrated its 10-year anniversary in 2019. In the last decade, employees have developed partnerships with many local nonprofits. Their contributions to the local community include supporting and sponsoring the annual American Cancer Society Making Strides Against Cancer walk and donating nearly $1 million through the Employee Giving Campaign to dozens of nonprofits in the greater Cincinnati area. And for the last nine years, the team in Cincinnati has shared the power of volunteerism by hosting the Volunteer Expo in Fountain Square.

Employees of The Standard volunteer at Transition Projects supporting clients experiencing homelessness.
Hillsboro, Oregon — Big Brothers Big Sisters of the Columbia Northwest
Employees at our Tanasbourne campus in Hillsboro deepened their mentoring relationships with kids participating in the Beyond School Walls program through Big Brothers Big Sisters Columbia Northwest. The kids (“littles”) receive transportation to our office twice a month to engage with their mentors (“bigs”) and learn about the business world in a professional environment.

Portland, Oregon — Literary Arts College Essay Mentor Project
Literary Arts hosts a College Essay Mentor Project in which high school students are paired with community volunteers to review and revise the students’ college application essays. In 2019, employees from The Standard partnered with students from Grant High School and Gresham High School to help students gain clarity about their personal essay subject and develop confidence in their ability to tell their story.

White Plains, New York — Dress for Success Dutchess County Chapter
Employees at The Standard’s White Plains office had another successful drive for personal care items and accessories to benefit Dress for Success. These items, along with the career counseling and other services Dress for Success provides, help women facing barriers to success prepare for job interviews and give them the confidence they need to secure a job and gain financial independence.

Habitat for Humanity Whiteley House key ceremony
Employees of The Standard devoted hundreds of volunteer hours in 2019 at the Habitat for Humanity Portland/Metro East Cully Place build site. Cully Place, a 15-home Habitat for Humanity community located in the Cully neighborhood of Northeast Portland, is the site of the Whiteley House. That house — new home of the Lopez-Silva family — was funded largely by Ben and Elaine Whiteley. Ben worked at The Standard for 44 years, serving as president and CEO for 11 years. The dedication and key ceremony were made especially poignant by the special connection employees of The Standard had with Ben and Elaine.
Leo Award winners
In 2008, The Standard established the Leo Award program in honor of our founder, Leo Samuel. Each year, the company recognizes four employee volunteers — nominated by their peers and determined by popular vote — who embody the community spirit of Leo Samuel. Winners receive a cash award for themselves and a cash donation to their nonprofits from The Standard. The program provides increased visibility for nonprofit organizations along with well-deserved recognition for the many employee volunteers who devote countless time and energy to these organizations.

In 2019, we honored these four exceptional employee volunteers:

Brian Williams — American Cancer Society, Central Virginia Chapter
Marcy David — Women in Insurance and Financial Services
Jon Shervey — Big Brothers Big Sisters of the Columbia Northwest
Amy Frazey — ALS Association of Oregon and Southwest Washington

Employee Resource Groups
Many of our employees choose to give back by joining company-sponsored employee resource groups. These groups bring together like-minded people who want to make a difference in specific areas that benefit our company and our community. They organize educational and cultural events that help raise awareness about a wide variety of issues and topics. The Standard currently sponsors eight employee resource groups:

- Celebrating Racial and Ethnic Diversity, or CRED — honors the diverse heritage and cultural backgrounds of the employee community at The Standard.
- Green Team — promotes business practices and employee actions that further efforts to create a sustainable future for our company, our community and our environment.
- Money$mart — inspires employees of The Standard to meet their financial goals.
- Parents Working Together — values people collaborating, sharing parenting resources and celebrating family milestones.
- Partners in Mind — supports healthy minds and well-being through awareness, education and building community.
- The Standard Employees Recognizing Veterans, or SERV — supports veteran employees and their family members.
- StandOUT — cultivates LGBTQ inclusion and community at The Standard and in the community.
- Women’s Career Network — offers members opportunities to foster personal and professional growth through networking events, educational seminars and community volunteer opportunities.

Giving Back
2019 Employee Giving Campaign
The Employee Giving Campaign — a signature event at The Standard — encourages employees and retirees to give to the causes they care about. During the three-week campaign, The Standard matches employee contributions dollar-for-dollar up to $5,000 to any eligible nonprofit or school, and our parent company, Meiji Yasuda, offers a second match. The 2019 campaign broke all previous giving and participation records — 75% of employees participated, helping raise $5.1 million for 1,900 nonprofits and schools across the country.

Clockwise from top: Brian Williams, Marcy David, Amy Frazey and Jon Shervey.
Top 10 EGC recipients:
1. Transition Projects — $465,000
2. Oregon Food Bank — $105,000
3. Habitat for Humanity Portland/Metro East — $60,000
4. Oregon Humane Society — $60,000
5. National Alliance to End Homelessness — $56,000
6. Oregon Public Broadcasting — $54,000
7. Ronald McDonald House Charities of Oregon and Southwest Washington — $46,000
8. Central City Concern — $43,000
9. Oregon Health & Science University Foundation — $43,000
10. Miriam’s House — $43,000

Employees got in the spirit of the campaign’s road trip theme by sharing photos from their road trip vacations and participating in fun themed events, picnics and fundraisers to support Jeans Days partners. The Jeans Days program allows employees to wear jeans and casual shoes in exchange for a $100 donation, and those funds are pooled, matched and sent to designated Jeans Days partners.

Opportunities for making a difference
The Standard is committed to helping our customers achieve financial well-being and peace of mind. Our employees fulfill this commitment every day by providing best-in-class customer service and innovative product offerings as well as answering the call when customers need us the most — often under challenging circumstances.

People who choose to work at The Standard want to make a difference in their communities as well as at work. That’s why, over the years, The Standard has created a suite of programs to ignite and support the passion employees have for the places where we live and work.

Here are just a few of the ways The Standard supports our employees so they can make a difference year-round:

Paid time off for volunteering
The Standard provides employees paid time off to volunteer each year. Employees use those hours to follow their passion to support hundreds of community organizations and schools.

Days of Caring events
The company hosts Days of Caring events to focus even more support on partners such as Habitat for Humanity, Trillium Family Services and other organizations working to strengthen our communities. In 2019, we hosted more than 60 Days of Caring events that drew hundreds of employee volunteers.

Dollars for Doers
Our Dollars for Doers program, established in 1985, allows employees to direct funding through grants from The Standard to the organizations where they volunteer. In 2019, 15 employees requested and received grants for their favorite nonprofits, strengthening the partnership between employees and the community organizations they value.

Nonprofit board training
The Standard expects officers of the company to serve on at least one civic, school or nonprofit board, and provides training opportunities for all employees interested in developing the expertise needed to be a successful board member. In 2019, more than 30 employees took advantage of our annual board training and nearly 50 of our senior leaders served on nonprofit or civic boards.
Volunteer Expos
The Standard Volunteer Expos in Portland and Cincinnati kicked off the giving season and the Employee Giving Campaign by connecting employees and the public with nonprofits doing good work in the community. Representatives from 134 nonprofits in Portland and 48 in Cincinnati were on hand to share information about what they do in the community and how to get involved. Prior to the expos, participating nonprofits were encouraged to promote the event through a social media contest. The organizations with the most views — SPCA Cincinnati, Sam Day Foundation, Junior Achievement of Oregon and Southwest Washington and Meals on Wheels People — received a $1,000 grant from The Standard.

Jeans Days program
Started in 2006, the program allows employees to wear jeans and casual shoes in exchange for a $100 donation, and those funds are pooled, matched and sent to designated Jeans Days partners. During the last 14 years, employees have raised more than $4 million for Jeans Days partners around the country.

The beneficiaries during the 2019 campaign were Bethany House Services in Cincinnati, Lifting Up Westchester in White Plains, Miriam’s House in Altavista, National Alliance to End Homelessness (nationwide) and Transition Projects in Portland. Organizations receive the funds in 2020.

Company and Foundation-Directed Giving
At The Standard our success is built on strong products and services and compassionate employees whose expertise helps move our customers forward. Not surprisingly, our corporate giving reflects the culture of caring that defines The Standard. Employees partner with the company to find ways to make a difference and support our communities through corporate giving and grants. The philosophy behind our charitable giving is shaped by the same attributes that help make us a leading provider of financial services: integrity, commitment and doing the right thing. Through our corporate giving program, we support organizations that align with our four focus areas.

Cultural development
Arts and cultural organizations play a major role in vibrant communities. The Standard supports organizations that offer multicultural art programs and provide enhanced access for the underserved. Specifically, we fund and encourage programs that build audiences and promote the arts through education, interactive media and artistic excellence. Learn more about one of our favorite 2019 grant recipient organizations in this category:

The Patricia Reser Center for the Arts is a world-class multidisciplinary arts center in Beaverton, Oregon, designed to enhance the cultural and economic vitality of the greater Beaverton and Washington County region by providing more access to arts, entertainment and educational programming for residents and visitors. With a grant in 2019, The Standard supported the construction of the center, the first of its kind to be built in the Portland-metro area in more than 30 years.
Disability and empowerment

All of our businesses are about helping people overcome hardships and empowering success, and disability insurance is one of our core products. The Standard supports organizations that help people with disabilities thrive independently and overcome barriers to social and economic success. We also support programs that provide relief during transitions to independent living. Learn more about one of our favorite grant recipient organizations in this category:

FACT Oregon’s All Ability Tri4Youth is the only barrier-free triathlon on the West Coast. Youth and young adults of all abilities compete individually or on teams in a 50-meter swim, 2-mile bike ride and half-mile run. The Standard was a proud supporter of this event in 2019.

Education and advancement

The future health and well-being of our communities is in the hands of children who are the workers, innovators, leaders and artists of the future. We fund organizations that foster strategic learning initiatives to better prepare children for success. We emphasize programs that strengthen the quality of education, including early childhood learning and workforce development. Learn more about one of our favorite grant recipient organizations in this category:

To help inspire the next generation — especially in historically underserved communities — to pursue careers in science, technology, engineering and math (collectively known as STEM), The Standard partnered with In4All to provide volunteers and funding for its dynamic STEM Connect Program. The program targets students in fourth and fifth grades, opening a world of exciting and rewarding careers grounded in STEM to students significantly underrepresented in those professions.

Healthy communities

Strong, vibrant communities are a critical source of security for all residents. We fund organizations that provide support, training and rehabilitation to individuals and families facing significant challenges. We also fund programs that help individuals and families develop capabilities to increase self-sufficiency. Learn more about one of our favorite grant recipient organizations in this category:

Central City Concern — a nonprofit in Portland, Oregon that provides comprehensive solutions to ending homelessness and achieving self-sufficiency — opened its newest facility in 2019 to provide housing, health care and employment services to community members experiencing homelessness. The Blackburn Center, funded in part by money raised from The Standard’s Jeans Days program, has 175 beds for people recently discharged from drug and alcohol rehabilitation programs or from hospitals, as well as clean and sober living spaces for transitional patients.
The Standard Charitable Foundation

Founded in 2006 to celebrate our centennial anniversary, The Standard Charitable Foundation’s mission is to make a positive difference in communities by supporting organizations focused on community development, education, disability and health, with an emphasis on individuals who have experienced a loss or a setback such as a major disability or loss of a loved one. The foundation has contributed more than $1.8 million in grants since 2006. Four of the grants awarded in 2019 were:

Albertina Kerr Centers — $25,000
The grant supported the construction of 120 units of workforce housing on the nonprofit’s campus in Gresham, Oregon. Albertina Kerr empowers people with intellectual and developmental disabilities, mental health challenges and other social barriers so they can lead self-determined lives and reach their full potential.

My Sisters’ Place — $10,000
This grant was used to fill gaps in shelter funding and help the organization continue providing vital services for the most vulnerable families in Westchester County, New York. My Sisters’ Place provides shelter and other services for individuals and families fleeing domestic violence and human trafficking.

QUAD — $15,000
QUAD used the funds to purchase resident lift systems for adults with disabilities living at four QUAD apartment buildings. The nonprofit fosters personal independence by providing affordable, barrier-free housing for people with severe physical disabilities.

Junior Achievement of Oregon and Southwest Washington — $15,000
The grant supported creation of the JA Finance Park, which helps students in middle school and high school build a foundation of economic literacy upon which they can make intelligent financial decisions that last a lifetime.

Additionally, The Standard Charitable Foundation supported:

- M25M
- Mercy Corps
- Portland State University
- New Avenues for Youth
- p:ear
- Tualatin Hills Park Foundation

2019 Award Highlights

City of Portland Sustainability at Work Gold Certification
The certification, offered through the city of Portland, recognizes leadership in and commitment to sustainable business practices benefiting the environment and community.

Portland Business Journal Corporate Philanthropy Award
Each year, the Portland Business Journal brings the business community together to celebrate the value created when businesses and nonprofit organizations partner to meet community needs. The Standard was proud to be honored alongside our peers with a Corporate Philanthropy Award in the enterprise business category (companies with more than $100 million annual revenue).

Human Rights Campaign Corporate Equality Index — perfect score
For the third consecutive year, The Standard scored 100% on the 2019 Corporate Equality Index, a national benchmarking survey and report on corporate policies and practices related to LGBTQ workplace equality. The CEI is administered by the Human Rights Campaign Foundation.
For more than 114 years, The Standard has been there for our communities. From volunteering on a Habitat for Humanity build site to helping out at a food bank, the team at The Standard has your back.
